FREEDMEN'S VILLAUR.—Dedication of the School House and Propidence Monae.—Yesterday if ternoon the senitry at the Aqueduct bridge was kept busier than usual in the examination of passes and in the imperion of vohieles. Ambulances and barounder wended their way, joiling and ratifling, fowards Arlington. Some of the occupants had never breathed Virginian air nor viewed the "exceed soil." They dessented in lugarities that never breathed Virginian air nor viewed the "exceed soil." They dessented in its upon the ruin of estates that were the heritage of generalions; upon the neglect of massions that gittered in affluence and rung with yelly, now the barracks of troops. The others were familiar with the Old Dominion—had lingered amid if percincts and hovered about its puriseus, starting game from its hills, and, perhap, rebels from its looky glens. These, however, were autonished to behold upon the deneases of Arlington a newly-grown village, peopled, too, by men whose volitions were formerly anachied, whose aspirations were trammeled, but now rejoicing in freedom and vaniling toward a paramount of villation.

Thus whilst the opulent masters in the disloyal states mourn the secession of their chaitles and the destruction of their homes, ready to exclaim with the Persian post saady: "The owl stands sentinel in the watch-dowers of Afrasiab, the epider technical in the planess of the Casara; their abject slaves have, by ald of the gospel, issued from the darkness which savironed their character, and like Dante, when led on by his mystic guide from the 'inferino,' are enabled to see the stars of Heaven."

People may look; may gaze, may stare, but such is the change which has been wrought—such in the stars of Heaven."

ie schools were continued here in quarters
ided by the camp authorities, until the baris became so crowded that these quarters were required for other purposes. The need of a suitable building was now sorely felt. No soonerwas the want make public than funds were contributed for the crection of a building to be occupied as a school-house and chapel.

The building was dedicated May 3, 1983, and the school was opened in it on the Wednesday following. This school has been puretised by several the contribution of the wednesday following.

school was opened in it on the Wednesday follow-me. This shool has been upperintended by agents appointed by the Society, and the work of instru-tion has been carried on by teachers who have re-cited a regular salary, and friends who have vol-int. ered their services.

The present principal is Mr. H. E. Simmons, of Providence, R. I., who is assisted by a competent orps of teachers. The day school has an average if one hundred and eighty children—the evening shool from seventy-five to one hundred and twen-y-five adults.

school from seventy-five to one hundred and twenty-five adults.

In May, 1983, a colony was sent from Camp Barker to Artington Heights. With the approval of the authorities having this solony in charge, the Society has undertaken to do for to what it has done for the inmates of Camp Barker. A commodious building that will seat five hundred adults has been exceted, for meeting the expenses of which special contributions will be needed from the friends of the freedment, inasmuch as the Tract Society cannot expend any of its funds for school houses or churches.

Mr. Anson M. Sperry, of New Hampshire, will succeed him at Camp Barker.

In both of these schools the system of instruction will be thorough, and strongly marked with the religious element that characterizes all the Tract Society's work.

Sabbath schools and presching services are held every Sabbath. Bev. W. A. Benedict is the general superintendent of all the religious and educational work of the American Tract Society among the freedmen in Washington and vicinity.

In addition to the school-house a large building, Tiect in length by 30 feet in width and two stories high, has been created at Arlington for the infirm and aged men and women who have no friends to provide for them, and who need accommodations and care which the Government cannot furnish.

Towards this building individuals in Providence, R. I., have contributed one thousand dollars, and as a monument of their liberality it is to be called the "Providence Home for Aged and Infirm Preced-men."

Here they who have spent long lives of unrequited toil will be made comfortable and happy in their last days.

Under Government authority the "Home" will be controlled by the agents of the American Tract

The successof the solony is due to the individual earsts of Lieut, Col. Elias M. Greene, Chief Quarternasser of the Department of Washington. In honor, therefore, of his laudable endeavors in behalf of the colored race, the heights upon which Freedmen's Village is created are called Greene ts. dedication exercises commenced at 2 o'clock The dedication excretes commenced at 3 o'clock with the singing of "Happy Greeting," by a choir of thirty colored children from the Sabbath School at Camp Barker. A prayer was then offered by Rev. L. B. Rockwood, District Servetary of the American Tract Societary. The children sang. "The Dear Old Fiag." After which D. B. Nichols, Eq., Superintendent of Contrabands, made a statement in relation to their condition.

ment in relation to their condition. He stated that one year ago last June he was appointed by Geoerai Wadsworth as superintendent of contrabands at Duff Green's Row, which is east of the Capitol. The circumstances under which he commenced his duties were very unpropitious. On the day that the entered upon his new calling there were four adults dead, and contagious diseases prevailed to an alarming extent. The deaths averaged about three and a half each day. He knew that the locality was hostile to health, and therefore desired a change, though many renovations that he locality was nostile to health, and there-fore desired a change, though many renovations had been made. He had visited Kurope, and had paid particular attention to agricultural colonies. He suggested a similar plan to Colonel Green, and that gentleman immediately originated the present volony, whose successful management is due chiefly to his indefatigable labors. The plan commends in their present situat by Rey. Wim. A. Benedist and Rey. L. B. Rock-wood, each of whom acknowledge their indebtedness to Colonel Greene.

After the singing of "We are coming, Father Abraham, three hundred thousand more," by a boy shout to elve years of age—the children joining in the chorus—Mr. Chittenden, of Vermont, the Register of the Treasury, made a few remarks, among which he stated that the idea of the white man being under a responsibility and a duty to better the condition of the negro was not a new one. It had been entertained by our revolutionary forelathers. He had always looked with great anxiety for the day when the colored people should occupy a proper position—one for which their capacities were fitted. He, however, never expected the experiment to be first tried upon the cetale owned to the rebot Gen. Lee. He believed that such contrasting scenes cannot after from the workings of an all-wise Providence. He therefore which Gioday is the rebot Gen. Lee. He believed that such contrasting scenes cannot after from the workings of an all-wise Providence. He therefore which Giodayced to the glorious undertaking.

The children thet sauge "Marching Along," which was followed by an address from them. Art. Briggs, of New York. After speaking as correctly as a holte little we preference, as angelleally as a non-suprompts divine, he would not mention the autonishing success which altended contraband labor, for fear that the buils in Wall street would tors up the stocks. He thought greenbacks were redeem.

The speaker then addressed the colored children of the shoir, and thought that their little round heads were significant of the foundheads of old. He told whem that they would, in the future, be required for their toil. They must leafn to unite intelligence with labor. They could do it. The world was now enjoying the advantages of an improvement which was invested by a negro's brain. The negro was a slave and received no patent. Hence forth the investions of sugness brains will receive inter deserved reward. [Here a colored man estiting on a front braid srose, shouting red winding ing, is true Methodes Inchico. "That's es, hous 19]

The song entitled "The Stare and Stripes" and commencing "Raily round the fleg, boys," was then rendered with an agreeable effect by the children. At the conclusion of which, Naj. Ben Perly Foors, of the Scoton Journal, was called upon for an address. He thought it a mistake, since he had owned to report the speech of others, and set so make them. As a son of Manachuseti—feeling an interest and a pride in the occasion—he would uit ter a few remarks, which he did in his wonted humorous and happy manner. He was followed by Hon. D. W. Gooch of the same state, who dwell as great length upon the glories of the Ranacipation Proclamation—President Lincoln was the high sheriff and his army a pouse comitatus, upon whom devolved its triumphant execution.

After the singing of the National anthem—

'Hy country, 'tie of these,
was land of liberty,'
the thenediction was procumen by Nev. T. R. New-lett, of the Calvery Baptist Church.

Upon the closing of the exercises the invited guests repaired to the tailor shop of the village and partons of referenments, which were bountifully supplied by Lieut. Col. Greene Everything was done up a te contrabundate, which is certainly one of the best of styles.

Acting Mastric Gro. Kimpall, for the past two years attached to the Charlestown Navy Yard, died Monday aftersoon of consumption. He was about forty years of age, a very active officer and sitizen, and leaves a wife and several children.

EFECIAL ATTENTION is called to an advertisenest in another column of a Grist Mill in Georgeown for sale.

GROVER'S TREATRE.—Every seat in this args and handsome theatre was occupied last svening, and the usual number of extra chairs were brought into use, so that at an early hour all the isles were filled. We congratulate Manager Grover upon the tremendous profits he is resping through the engagement of the Martisetti and Marsetti troups, whose brilliant success might continue for months could they be induced to remain here. To-night, a magnifecent ballet, entitled "Le Diable A Quatre," will be presented, together with new sereless upon the "Corda Tondu," as act upon a perpendicular rope by Martisetti Brothers, Mart. Paul and Johan Franconi, and the great pantomime of "Vol-Au-Venl." This is a bill that will surely crowd the house to suffocation.

FORD's NEW THRATHE.—This evening, Miss Foun's New THEATRE.—This evening, Mass Emma Webb, an accomplished and versatile ac-tress, has her first benefit. Three splendid plays will be produced on this occasion, viz: "The Col-leen Bawn," "The Four Tisters," and "Nan, the Good for Nothing." Messis. Herne, Bishop and the entire company are included in the east of PROPLE'S THATTE.—The great Arab troupe, whose wonders performances are creating auch an excitement in our city are to appear again to night in conjunction with the charming lady stars. Miss Fannie Brown and Miss Annie Ward, and the excellent dramatic company, which includes some of the finest histrionic talent in the country. The performances at this comfortable theatre are of a chaste and pleasing character, and we are gratified to see the efforts of the management to cater to the tastes of the reflored and intellectual classes so successful, as they are preven to be by the nightly attendance of large numbers of our very first cit sein.

one at the Varieties, it being the inaugural ceiebration of the second year of that popular institu-tion, which is to be selebrated in a manner worthy the occasion. M'lie Cherry Petric is to deliver a prize address, written expressly for her. A bril-lant display of fireworks will take place in front of the hall at 7% o'clock, and a bill of extra attrac-are among the features. We anticipate a crowded house.

CANTHRURY HALL.—The affecting domestic drama of "Rachel Ryland; or, the Momentous Quistion," again received the almost rapt attention and hearty plaudits of a large and intelligent anticipate last evening. Mise Lillie Brandon, as Rachel, was natural, therefore good. Miss Luty Clifton and Messra. Eagan, Edwards, and Williams austained their parts as they do everything which they attempt—well. The piece will be represend to-night, besides which Miss Kathleon O'Neil, the Irish comic vocalist; Miss Ernstine De Faiber, the beautiful danseuse and songstress, and the numerous company of Khhiopian comedians, ao., will appear. A family matines will take place to-morrow afternoon.
